Holidays: No Classes on Monday, September 7 (Labor Day), November 25-27 (Thanksgiving).

Academic Conduct: Academic honesty and mutual respect (student with student and student with instructor) are expected in this course. Mutual respect means, among other things, being on time for class and not leaving early, being prepared to give full attention to class work, not reading newspapers or other material in class, not using cell phones or pagers during class time, and not looking at another student's work during exams. Academic misconduct, as defined by the Student Judicial Code, will not be treated lightly.

CAAR Statement: If you have specific physical, psychiatric, or learning disabilities and require accommodations, please let your instructor know early in the semester so that your learning needs may be appropriately met. You will need to provide documentation of your disability to the CAAR (Center for Access Ability Resources) Office located in the Health Services Building, 4th floor.
